

The Intra-ceuticals Facial Is The Facial You Want.

Or I should say, it's the facial you want if you are attending any of the following events: Wedding, Reunion, Job Interview, Family Holiday, First Date, Regular Date, Revenge Date, Vacation, Anniversary. A series of these facials is what you want if you want to look amazing all of the time without a real procedure that has downtime. Madonna swears by them. But what is it?...

Intra-ceuticals uses Hyperbaric Oxygen Technology to infuse smaller molecules of beneficial vitamins, acids and proteins into the layers of the skin, much deeper than topical products can reach. Depending on the type of facial your skin needs, you can address a multitude of sins...

I underwent a Rejuvenate Facial at the About Faces Canton Location to help hydrate my parched skin, tighten my jaw line and plump my fine lines and wrinkles. I'll warn you in advance, you are going to be subjected to super close ups of my face, so prepare yourself. Hopefully, we'll still be friends afterwards.

Here is what to expect if you opt for this facial. Your esthetician will cleanse your skin thoroughly and then lightly mist it with the serum. The Rejuvenate cocktail includes hyaluronic acid, peptides and vitamins A, C and E. Then pressurized oxygen is used to push the low-molecular (smaller) molecules deeply into the skin.

They do small sections of your skin at a time, making sure to cover all areas of the face and jawline. They stopped half way through to show me the results. Of course, I ran (quietly) through the spa to get my camera, so I could share it with you. Finally, they finished by applying the Atoxylene serum to my skin, to further stop fine lines in their tracks.

The left side has been treated and the right has not. If my face were naturally more symmetrical, this would be easier to show you. I'm laying down in both photos, which is why I don't have a neck. My left lip is much fuller and my left brow is arched higher. My right brow is slightly flatter...

The downside is that it only lasts for a few days. But if you use their line of products and get these facials regularly, the results will last much, much longer. The entire system hinges on hydration and infusing the skin with hydrating ingredients. So if you use the products that help layer hydration and pause your wrinkles, you'll get better results. My results were obvious for about three days and I really noticed a difference in my lips and cheeks...

If you have a special event coming up, this is definitely a treat. The results are real without being drastic. Visit About Faces Day Spa and Salon for more information.
