

Miranda's Choice

AS a model and founder of beauty brand KORA Organics, Miranda Kerr's luminous complexion is something she's keen to maintain. When travelling, the Victoria's Secret Angel and mother is a fan of Intraceuticals facials by skincare expert Michelle Peck - who she has been working with since 2010 for events such as the 2011 Met Ball and the international fashion shows.

"We utilise various different treatments and treatment plans depending on how long and far Miranda has travelled and what we are preparing her for. We use a combination of microdermabrasion, various different lights, body treatments and always finish every treatment with the Intraceuticals Rejuvenate Infusion," revealed Peck, who also works with Madonna. "It's an incredible way to not only deliver hydration to the face, but also the neck, décolletage, elbows, hands, knees, backs of legs... suffice to say hydrating just the face in today's environment is no longer enough." ...
